THE COAL MINES REGULATION BILL.

STATUTES IN THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.
MR. MILLMAN'S REPLY.

In reference to certain statements made in the Legislative Council, on Wednesday, on the Coal Mines Regulation Bill, the Minister for Mines has framed a reply to the following effect:—In the first place, Mr. Binney, Mr. G. C. Jones, and Mr. Binney, in a disingenuous manner, and insinuating that my action in that matter was to show that I was leaning towards the men. I admit that Mr. Binney did make application on the last evening for a copy of the new Mining Bill, but as it is request made three or four days prior to the introduction of the measure, I, of course, in accordance with the usual custom, which is a copy of the bill until it had been first read by Parliament. A similar request to that made by Mr. Binney was made to me by the miners' representatives, which I also refused. I think I had complied with Mr. Binney's request, after having refused the miners' representatives, I could then have been rightly accused of being one-sided. I declined to supply a copy of the bill to either party, and Parliament was first made aware of the provisions of it, that was on the 9th September, on four days subsequent to Mr. Binney's request. He could not, therefore, have been misled by a copy of the bill, which was not made available until the 12th inst.

simple thing, if, as he desired, to submit a copy of the bill to the miners' representatives, and if good reasons could have been shown, they would have been sufficient in obtaining the recommendation of the miners' representatives. With regard to Mr. Binney's statement, with regard to this question, it appears to me that in writing upon this question he has been guilty of a gross misstatement. The bill was carried away by feelings antagonistic to any kind of concession, and it is a pity that it was not given sufficient weight to the more moderate suggestions, and that it was not a kinder spirit. Similar opposition was advanced to any introduction with the working of the coal mines, and it is a pity that it was not given sufficient weight to the more moderate suggestions, and that it was not a kinder spirit.
